Drop Four Players From Golf Team

Three From Ottawa With Those Meeting U.S. Squad.

TORONTO, Sept. 3. — (CP) — George Cummings, president of the Canadian Professional Golf Association, today announced four players had been dropped from the Canadian team which will meet a United States squad at St. Andrew's Golf Club here Sept. 7. The team has been reduced from 10 to eight players.

Willie Lamb, Leo Robson, Dick Borthwick and Jimmy Johnston, all of Toronto, have been dropped from the team and Robert Burns, of Montreal, and Art Hulbert, of Toronto, originally selected as alternates, will replace them. Other members of the squad are Stanley Horne, Ottawa; Bobby Gray, Jr., Windsor; Ernie Wahslam, Ottawa; Bobby Alston, Ottawa; Roland Nuot and Jules Huot, of Quebec.

To Announce Reduction Tonight

Hepburn Will Disclose Motor License Fee Cuts.

STRATFORD, Sept. 2.—(CP)—Declaring investigation into rebates for lawful collection of auto-tension duties would be dropped if the present Liberal administration were defeated, Premier Hepburn asked a political gathering here tonight to return him to power in the October election that he might complete the task he has undertaken by 1944.

Industry in the province was due for a great development if the people stood by him on his stand against John L. Lewis and his Committee for Industrial Organization, the Premier said.

Mr. Hepburn said tomorrow night he would announce "sweeping reductions" in passenger automobile licenses—reductions made possible through business administration.

Newell Mulligan To Be Committed

Will Face Higher Court As Charged.

After evidence of the preliminary hearing had been completed early this afternoon, Deputy Magistrate O'Connor said he would commit Newell Mulligan, 22, of 412 Arlington avenue, to stand trial as charged on a serious offence involving a 20-year-old Sandy Hill woman. The accused was remanded for formal committal, pending transcription of the evidence.

Walter Schroeder, defence counsel, urged that Mulligan should be committed on a lesser charge. Crown Attorney Mercier felt there was sufficient evidence to send the case to higher court on the original charge. The magistrate shared the Crown Counsel's opinion.

The alleged victim of the attack related going on a party with Mulligan and another man and woman. Beverage rooms in Lower Town and Gatineau Point were visited, and the couples separated. The witness alleged Mulligan was supposed to drive her home but instead drove her to the vicinity of Strathcona Park and attacked her. She declared he struck her when she resisted, and that her body later bore numerous marks and bruises. She also said Mulligan drove her home.

Medical evidence, and evidence of Raymond Munroe, the second man on the party, as well as of the sister of the alleged victim, was heard.

Papa's Darling.

("Honour.—A fourteen-year-old schoolboy of Bobo, Transcaucasia, denounced his father to the secret police as a counter-revolutionist, and was rewarded by a two-weeks trip to a vacation camp and landed for his schoolwork by the government." News item).

I.
What a darling little fellow—
What a perfect, upright son,
Full of noble resolutions,
Pulling duty over fun!
Watching daddy's every movement,
Noting comments cold and hot,
And then warmly recommending
He be taken out and shot!

II.
Ah, how sweet to hear your footsteps
Falling here and falling there!
And your carefree, childish laughter
Ringing always everywhere!
What an energetic youngster!
With a zeal that never sleeps.
Taking down dear daddy's statement
And reporting to the cops!

III.
Romping to the school each morning,
Coming homeward on the run,
For you must keep tabs on popper—
There is dark work to be done;
Climbing on his lap and smiling
As he tells you this and that—
And reporting in the eggnog—
Ah, delightful little brat!

IV.
Taking note of his opinions
As he spins a little tale,
And resolving, as he closes,
"I must put this bum in jail!"
Pleading, "Popper, tell another,"
In a childish voice so sweet,
With your daddy unsuspecting
That you're turning on the heat.

V.
Listening through long-drawn evenings
To the thoughts your daddy holds;
Marking carefully on paper
Every viewpoint he unfolds:
Then off to the Secret Service
(What a lousy little gat!)
With the data misleading
That your father is a spy!

VI.
What about your dear old mom-my?
You must soon turn her in, too!
You're a faithful young Loeltgen
With a heart that's ever true.
You'll get two weeks at a boys' camp
There to play and shoot and row—
Monkeys on five, shooting officers—
And a swift kick in the pants!

OBSERVATIONS.

Ah! what's more alluring
Than watching the fire
Of the east light burn
On some tall spire.

And what is more fickle
Than trying to surmise
The thought of a woman
By reading her eyes.

Hot Spot Winds Up Thrilling Day For New York Visitors From Zenda

Reeve of Town Is Envied Man After He Gets Trip Back Stage at Swanky Club.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—(CP)—Vernon Fewster, reeve of the Ontario municipality of North Norwich in which the hamlet of Zenda is situated, was an envied man today among the male members of a party brought from the little Oxford county settlement to witness the world premiere of the motion picture, "Prisoner of Zenda."

The good natured reeve, one of 12 persons brought here by airplane to see the picture based on a novel after which the picturesque little community near Woodstock is named, had been backstage at one of Broadway's swankiest night clubs (French Casino), Surrounded by some of the glamorous ladies of the chorus he had his picture taken.

Had Thrilling Day.

For the seven men and five women from Zenda that visit is a hot spot wound up a thrilling day. They had been to the movies, after a sightseeing tour in Manhattan's stifling heat, and then went to the night club on Times Square.

"It was lovely," said Reeve Fewster of the airplane trip to New York. They had circled Niagara Falls two or three times and on arriving over the metropolis the 'plane went in the lower tip of Manhattan while they saw the Statue of Liberty.

Some of the men saw a ball game yesterday. Others went to a show. But the ladies were more interested in shopping. For the reeve, however, it was more or less a day of agony. He had to enter the stifling studio of a newspaper office and pose for a photographer under hot lights.

The Zendaites will see more of New York today, and leave for home tomorrow. Andrew Fewster, brother of the reeve, hopes to be home in time to open his grocery store for the usual Saturday night business.

Drought Area To Need Help

General Synod Delegates Pledge More Relief.

HALIFAX, Sept. 3. — (CP) — Drought conditions in the West, particularly in Saskatchewan, were mentioned today by delegates to the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada as the synod became a committee of the whole to discuss the report of the Council for Social Service.

"Conditions this year are the worst in the history of the Diocese of Qu'Appelle—but we are sticking to our job," said Rev. W. B. Adcock, of Regina. It is expected $50,000 people will be on relief in Saskatchewan this Winter.

The question period following discussion of the report of the Council dealing with the care of provisions and clothing for the drought areas last year. The report was presented by general C.S.S. Secretary W. W. Judd, of Hamilton, Ont., and discussion will continue throughout the day.

"I appeal in the generosity of the people in the east and the far west," said Mr. Adcock. "What by this time next year we shall be in a better condition—for it is always 'next year' in Saskatchewan."

Canon H. A. Alderwood, Saskatoon, told the synod the drought area had extended northward in the Saskatoon district, and beyond this year. He thought the relief should be kept up in the east and added that it be continued "for another year at least."

Convocation, the subject which held up progress through the report of the General Board of Religious Education yesterday, again was mentioned, and a committee named to draft a resolution covering the subject, which will be discussed before the session.

Hepburn Will Disclose Motor License Fee Cuts.

STRATFORD, Sept. 2.—(CP)—Declaring investigation into rebates for lawful collection of autonomous duties would be dropped if the present Liberal administration were defeated, Premier Hepburn asked a political gathering here tonight to return him to power in the October election that he might complete the task he has undertaken by 1944.

Industry in the province was due for a great development if the people stood by him on his stand against John L. Lewis and his Committee for Industrial Organization, the Premier said.

This was an increase of 8,316 cars, or 1.1 per cent, over the preceding week; an increase of 33,574, or 4.4 per cent, compared with the corresponding week a year ago, and an increase of 106,255, or 15.5 per cent, compared with two years ago.

Mystery Flares Are Explained

Were Set Off by Icebound Hudson's Bay Company Man.

ABOARD S.S. NASCOPIE, PRINCE REGENT INLET, Sept. 2.—(CP)—(By wireless)—The mysterious flares seen from this ship anchored in Ballot Strait Wednesday night were explained today with the arrival of the Hudson's Bay Company agent, L. D. Learmonth.

He said he had been icebound when travelling across Boothia Peninsula to meet the Nascopie here and had set off flares Wednesday night to indicate he was approaching. He arrived here by motor.

When the flares were first seen, officials aboard the ship had considered a Eastern Arctic patrol speculated on the possibility that they might be signals from the six missing Russian Polar flyers.

Some of the crew thought the flares might have come from the schooner Aklavik but the ship arrived here and her captain said no flares had been fired.

Arrival of Learmonth in his canoe cleared up the mystery.

Martha Raye, Three-Month Bride, Will File Suit for Divorce

Hi-de-ho Film Singer Charges Her Beautician Husband With "Extreme Cruelty."

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 3.—(CP)—Martha Raye, hi-de-ho film singer and bride of three months, will file suit today for divorce, her attorney said, charging Beautician Wallace (Buddy) Westmore with "extreme cruelty."

Attorney Vincent A. Mercy's admission that the suit was prepared culminated days of denial by the wide-mouthed comedienne that she and her 31-year-old husband would part.

Mercy declined to elaborate on the nature of the charges.

Westmore, a recognized leader among Hollywood beauty make-up experts, took Miss Raye

[illegible] the girl admitted finally after Morrie had persisted. "I lost my money and my ticket to Kansas City. I don't what I'll do now."

Morrie listened with gravity as the girl recited the story of her loss. She had put her handbag on the ticket desk while she signed the register.

"And when you picked up your handbag it was open and the stuff gone?" Morrie supplied. It was familiar, that procedure! She nodded miserably. "The dirty rat, stealing from a helpless young lady like yourself!" he said virtuously. So there was someone else working the terminal besides himself!

"I had the money and the ticket in a small leather change purse my mother gave me before I left," the young woman explained. "It seemed the safest way to carry it." Morrie squirmed excitedly at the unexpected description. The small purse in his pocket felt as large as a watermelon.

"Believe me, miss," he told her sincerely, "I'd help you if I could. It's kind of tough to lose all you've got." Maybe it would be a good idea to look around for the thief, he suggested. But the girl probably didn't have much in it anyway! But that was no obvious—a pronounced thick wallet and an old-fashioned change purse which he had snagged from a shift looking stranger but a few minutes before.

Morrie eased himself into one of the long, stuffed leather divans at the end of the ticket counter. It wouldn't be a bad idea to wait for a new crop of customers to appear before going over the field again.

A girl sat down a little distance from Morrie, but he paid her scant attention until he was disturbed by the slight, muffled sounds of her sobbing. It disturbed him and tugged an unfamiliar well of compassion. And, maybe, to be fair, it was because the young stranger was so eminently easy on the eyes. Morrie got up.

"Is there something wrong, miss?" he asked politely. The girl looked up with stricken eyes and shook her head. "Maybe I can help you," Morrie persisted. It wasn't right for a girl to cry like that and make such beautiful blue eyes all red-rimmed!
